

FIX WHAT'S BROKEN: PROPERTY INSURANCE

Skyrocketing Property Insurance Premiums Fuel Florida's Affordability Crisis

Most of your local tax dollars go right back into the things you count on every day: like safe streets, clean water, parks, and public safety. Thanks to Florida's Save Our Homes constitutional amendment, property taxes for full-time homeowners can only go up by 3% a year, even when home values soar.

That's a voter-approved protection. And it's working.

THE REAL PROBLEM?

Skyrocketing Insurance.

Since 2021, the average Florida homeowner's insurance premium has gone up 102%.

Save Our Homes caps property taxes for full-time homeowners at 3%.

THE REAL AFFORDABILITY CRISIS:

Sky High Property Insurance

Tallahassee lawmakers and bureaucrats find it easier to shift the blame to cities than insurance special interests.

Here's What That Means for Our Community:

Fixing the wrong problem puts essential local services (like police, parks, and roads) at risk.

Tax breaks for snowbirds and special interests.

Full-time Floridians pay more.
